A Gorgeous Garment Worn by a Witness Who Came All the Way From Canada to Testify in the Circuit Court.

An overcoat modeled after Count Castellane's famous $11,000 garment, lined with Russian sable, entered Judge Gates' courtroom yesterday on the back of a gentle-man who had come all the way from Canada to be a witness in a case. The coat was lined with fine fur, the outside being of plain, black cloth.

Mr. M. K. Connolly, of Montreal, for that NEEDS REST FROM KICKERS. was the name of the witness, removed the precious top-coat with care and placed it on the back of a chair. He is a large, smooth-faced man with the appearance of a cor-pulent bank account. His testimony, which he had come so many miles to give, was given in language and grammar that were irreproachable.

"Have you any interest in this suit?"

"Not any."

"Is the plaintiff to pay your raliroad fare from Montreal to Kansas City and your hotel bills while here?"

"I am unable to say, No arrangements to that effect have been made."

"Do you mean to say that although you have no pecuniary interest in this case, you are coming here to testify at your own expense?"

"Certainly not." Then Mr. Connolly appealed to Judge Gates to allow him to explain the situation. His explanation was satisfactory to Attorneys Scarritt, Griffith and Jones on the one side and Harkless, O'Grady and Crysler on the other, and the case was proceeded with.

A Canadian twine company is suing Bradiey, Wheeler & Co. for several thousand dollars alleged to be due on a bill for twine. This is the case in which Mr. Connolly and his overcoat figure.

Helen Fairlamb, the Juliet; Marguerite Graham, the Romeo, and Ambert Haley, who played both Mercutio and Friar Laurence, deserve particular mention. The sale of seats for the Carreno recital at the Coates theater this evening continued active yesterday, and a big and fashionable audience is assured for the great planist. Carreno's success has been phenomenal and her Kansas City concert will surpass in attendance even that given here two years ago.

It is interesting to announce that the first day's sale of seats for the Alice Niel-sen engagement at the Coates was larger than in any other city where the prima donna and her new opera have been heard, and this, too, in spite of the fact that her success has been most remarkable since she has entered the field of stars. As this is Miss Nielsen's home, it is something to be proud of that she is not without honor in Kansas City.

The Schubert Club, one of the best organizations of the regular concert stage, will give a concert at the Academy of Music this evening, the entertainment being one of the regular Y. M. C. A. course.

An interesting concert will be given at the Linwood Presbyterian church this evening. An unusually attractive programme has been arranged, the contributors including some of the best known singers and instrumentalists of the city.

PLANTERS' BANK PROMOTERS ARE STILL POLICE GUESTS.

Special Grand Jury Is Examining Into Their Peculiar Banking Methods-Authorities Believe a Big Scheme Has Been Spoiled.

The police are losing no time in pressing the cases in which Leonard Imboden and S. F. Hancock, of the suppressed Planters bank, are interested. Both men are detained at police headquarters and will be held there until the special grand jury now in session examines thoroughly into their banking methods.

Yesterday detectives and Pinkerton officials were busy gathering evidence, and, communication received by the latter from a bank at Centerville, S. D., it is now their belief that among Imboden's many schemes was an enterprise which would have resulted in his coming into possession of many head of cattle at little cost. According to the letter, a man giving his name as Nesbitt recently arrived in Centerville and at once began to negotiate for the purchase of cattle. To the bank he presented a draft for $50 on the Planters' bank of this city, and it was sent on for collection. No attention was paid to it here, and the bank then notified the Pinkertons of Nesbitt and his claims as a cattle dealer. In the meantime Nesbitt disappeared and the cattle he wanted to purchase are still munching South Dakota aliaifa. While there Nesbitt displayed a letter of credit from Imboden's bank, another from a Texas bank, and a third bore the seal of a leading bank in Old Mexico. Before the grand jury imboden's stock commission company, under the firm name of Imboden Bros. Live Stock and Trust Company, was investigated. The authorities caim that incorporation papers of the company have never been filed and that the "brother" exists only in the imagination or scheme of imboden.

According to the developments yesterday, Imboden's banking scheme had a wide scope. He intended to cultivate the trade of the market men and had planned to move the bank to the North end in a short time.

His Troubles Are Multiplying. Yesterday a writ of garnishment granted by Justice Pursiey to the Hudson-Kimber Publishing Company was served on Imboden and Hancock in the holdover at po-lice headquarters. issued by the Planters' bank and casned by the company.

At about the same hour the garnishment was issued a warrant was issued for the arrest of the bankers on the charge of illegally receiving deposits. The complaint was filed by J. P. Lapetina, of Lapetina & Son, produce dealers, in the city market, who deposited $5 with the bank only a few minutes before it was suppressed. The warrant will be held in abeyance until the grand jury reports. Claim He Is a Monomaniac.

Friends of Imboden claim that he is nonomaniae on the subject of starting a monomaniac on the subject of starting a bank, and that no matter what amount of money he had been entrusted with he would have made no attempt to run away with it, although they admit he might have used it in business enterprises at which a conservative capitalist would look askance. "When money is placed in his hands," said a man who has known him for years, whe always considers he has a right to use it as though it were his own, and while he would never attempt to run away with cash or property, he would unhesitatingly risk it or property, he would unhesitatingly risk it in enterprises that, while seemingly good things to him, wouldn't be touched by any-

Brooklyn Avenue Street Railway Co. Asks Council for a Franchise.

The ordinance granting the Brooklyn Avenue Street Railway Company a fran-chise to operat an electric line on Grand avenue from Fifth to Thirteenth street was introduced in both houses of the councll last night. In the upper house it went to the public improvements committee and in the lower house it went to the streets alleys and grades committee.

The ordinance asks for a right-of-way for a double track electric line on Grand avenue from Fifth to Thirteenth street, for a period of thirty years. Under its provisions the city will have the right to permit period of thirty years. Under its provisions the city will have the right to permit any other electric line to use the tracks for a distance of three consecutive blocks at a compensation to the Brooklyn avenue company to be fixed by ordinance.

Within two months after the acceptance of the franchise the the company is to begin the work of constructing the line, which shall be in operation within four months, A five minute service is to be guaranteed from 5 a. m. to 10 p. m. and a 10 minute service from 10 to midnight. The city is given the privilege to increase the hours of service whenever it shall see it. A deposit of $5.00 is to be made with the city treasurer as a guarantee that the company will carry out the provisions of the franchise in regard to building the line, the deposit to be returned when the construction is completed. If granted the franchise the company agrees to waive its right to operate a line on Tenth street from Main to Grand avenue within one year, to waive its claim for damages by reason of the change of grade on Tenth street from the Northeast electric line.

WITHIN SIGHT OF HOME.

John T. Enslow, of Nebraska, a Manila Hero, Dies in This City of Chronic Dysentery.

A hero of Manila died yesterday in this city, almost within sight of the home he had traveled many weary weeks to reach. His name was John T. Enslow and, as member of the First Nebraska regiment. he was among the first of Uncle Sam's soldiers to press the soil of the Philippines. He did valiant service before Manlin but soon after the city was taken he became ill and was soon the victim of chronic dysentery. He was given a disability discharge and as fast as steam could carry him he journeyed towards his home in Lin-roln, Neb. When he reached this city Wednesday evening he was too weak to travel further and was taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. Thomas Clawson, at Eighth and Euclid. Dr. S. A. Durham was called in, but medical skill could not defeat death.

Last evening the deceased soldier's father, H. Harvey Enslow, arrived from Lincoln, proud of his boy and anxious to embrace him. Dr. Dunham met him at the depot and notified him of his bereavement. This evening all that is mortal of the Manila hero will be taken to Lincoln and on Sunday he will be buried with military bonors.

at the First United Presbyterian church last night by the pastor, Rev. Mr. J. F. Ross. The lecture was given for the benefit of the Young People's Society of the church.

"France, in the sixteenth century," said Mr. Ross, "was the center around which raged the great conflict between Teuton and Latin, between Protestantism and Papacy. As in the physical world, molecules pulsate around the center of polarization, so these two great conflicting parties met on this middle ground.

"And the moral and spiritual desolation of modern France shows the force with which they came together.

"Coligni had achieved great success in military affairs. After earnest study during a period of enforced leisure he espoused the cause of the Huguenots. Thenceforth it was a long series of civil wars, varied by occasional truces, between him and the Empress Catherine, who occupied the throne for her infant son, Charles V.

"After several attempts had been made to assassinate Coligni, these troubles finally culminated in the awful massacre of Saint Bartholemew, the terrible atrocities of which horrified the whole civilized world."

Mr. Ross closed with an eloquent peroration on the character and life of Coligni.

His Young Wife Has Been Untiring in Her Efforts to Secure Leniency for Him and It Is Likely She Will Succeed.

The case of Max V. Stolz, charged with embezzling funds from Morris, Butt & Muller, soap manufacturers in Armourdale, was practically dismissed in the South city court, Kansas City, Kas., yesterday morning. The soap company has refused to prosecute the young man and the only thing lacking to make him a free man again is to have the county attorney dismiss the case against him. When the case was called for trial yesterday morning, O. W. Butt, one of the members of the firm. appeared and simply stated that he did appeared and simply stated that he did not wish to prosecute the young man, as he thought the shortage would be made good. He asked that the case be dismissed then and there, but Deputy County Attorney B. S. Smith refused to take that responsibility upon himself and as a result Stolz is still being held. County Attorney Enright is in Topeka and until he returns the case will stand as it now is.

Stolz owes this leniency to the untiring the case will stand as it now is.

Stolz owes this leniency to the untiring efforts of his young wife, who has since her husband's arrest, pleaded with his former employers not to prosecute him and it was on her account that Mr. Butt asked that the case be dismissed.

Stolz is a poor man and his wife and one small child would be left in straitened circumstances if he was to be convicted.

ened circumstances if he was to be convicted.

There is a possibility that County Attorney Enright will push the case against the young man, even in the face of the fact that the complainants have dropped it, but this is not probable.

The exact amount of Stoiz' shortage will probably never be known, as the members of the firm now refuse to give it out.
